

The unique, proven method in Presentation Coaching for you:

Based on your daily communication your individual Presentation Coaching is very pragmatic and results oriented.

Therefore we work in English and / or German with your real speeches, your real presentations and other public appearances you may want to address.

With the help of precise video analysis - either from a simulation behind closed doors or from recordings of your performances - you have the opportunity to watch yourself from the viewer's perspective with your nonverbal and verbal communication to judge your impact.

Based on this deep analysis, we define your success factors for your enhanced professional, role appropriate communication.

This is what experts call your “Authentic Personal Brand” or even “Executive Presence”.

In each session and / or after each performance you will be provided with specific hints and behavioral options to try them out in your daily surroundings.

These options and hints are individually tailored to your goals, your personality and behavioral repertoire. This comprehensive method allows you to easily integrate the options and hints directly into your daily life to increase your communications impact.

A very special offer for you:

More and more personalities take the opportunity to prepare best for critical interactions through Presentation Coaching.

The range includes key note speeches, important presentations and public appearances such as Town Hall Meetings or Kick-off Meetings.

Your benefit:

Designing these critical interactions precisely towards your goals, your defined personal branding and to prepare you thoroughly at the event / presentation venue (rehearsal on stage) usually leads to a feeling of great confidence.

This confidence shows and has an impact: Executive Presence.

Your best preparation - your best performance!
